Introduction to primary direct care

Are you frustrated with long wait times, rushed visits, and doctors who may not have even looked at your name? Well, with primary direct care, your doctor actually knows you and has time to listen with virtual or in-person options.

Personalized care and real doctor-patient relationships

And here's the real difference. Your health isn't measured by how many prescriptions you're given or how much diagnosis codes were checked off. In the insurance model, that's how your doctors success is rated.

Well we believe that it's about how people actually heal.

Focusing on root causes instead of symptoms

Instead of just managing symptoms with medication, we focus on finding and fixing the root cause, helping you at the roots cause to prevent illness before it even starts.

No more quick, impersonal visits. We take the time to understand your whole health picture so you get real solutions, not just a pill.

Simple, patient-centered healthcare

Healthcare should be simple, personal, and focused on you. we're changing the way healthcare works because you deserve better.
