Podcast Introduction and Host Background

How do we know that this actually works? Because there's people offering equipment from Asia, from Russia, other places that claim the same thing. Now, do they actually do that?

Do they actually have harmonic signatures that they can identify and neutralize problems? I mean, if they can, that's fantastic, but I don't know that they can.

And you have to understand the political realities of the world. The Wegemet equipment is produced in Germany. It's licensed in Germany. Welcome to the Natural Facts Podcast.

I'm your host, Dr. David Wickenheiser. I'm a naturopathic physician with over 30 years of clinical experience. I have a focus on natural and regenerative medicine.

Through this podcast, I will be your guide, helping you to make sense of conflicting healthcare choices. Welcome to the Natural Facts. I'm Dr. David Wickenheiser, a naturopathic physician and your host of the Natural Facts Podcast.

In this episode, I want to talk about electronic homeopathy. Now, the basics of good health are to feed your body, clean your body, and balance the energy.

Feed your body, that's nutrition, eat enough of the right foods and not too many of the wrong foods. Detoxification, make sure that you've got bowel movements, you're urinating, meaning you're hydrated, that your skin breathes and that you work your lungs by exercising.

Pretty straightforward. Now, we're all able to balance our energy in different ways. Now, it could be as simple as giving a hug to a loved one. It could be more complex in terms of homeopathy.

Now, I've been involved with homeopathy and specifically electronic homeopathy since 1998. I graduated from naturopathic school in 1995 and was interested in various forms of homeopathy and used it in my practice.

But in 1998, I started getting involved by buying equipment and using with patients something called bioimpedance and bioresonance.

Basics of Health and Early Homeopathy Experience

Bioimpedance is the ability to measure the body's response to specific harmonics, a specific electronic signature by testing the body with exposing the body to that signature.

Before I give you more details on that, let's talk about the concept of homeopathy. You may be new to homeopathy. So an example of homeopathic type action are noise canceling headphones.

I'm sure you've heard about them, seen them, and even possibly used them. But what is a electronic noise canceling headphone? Well, in round terms, they're expensive.

They're 550 bucks and they work because nobody's going to pay that kind of money and not have them work. They'll return them in a moment. So we all know people or we've used them ourselves to have noise cancelling headphones.

Very useful on airplanes, very useful in various noisy circumstances where there's repetitive noises that can be tracked electronically. Here's another example.

Have you ever recorded on your telephone a voice or music and there is a tracing, an electronic tracing on the screen so that you can see a representation in real time of your phone recording.

So I think almost everyone has seen that kind of a tracing, a graph. Conceptually, if you take that identified graph and with electronic processing, invert it.

It'll neutralize it. Now, if you're older, like I am, you have had experience with a waterbed. And I remember when waterbeds first came out, we all played with them and we would put an impulse in and watch a wave go across and back and forth.

And by the second time you did that, it was like, okay, I understand the wave moves. And the third time, invariably, you'd shoot a wave and as it comes back, you'd shoot a second wave and the waterbed would go flat because the first wave would be neutralized by the second wave.

Another example of inverted harmonics. I was at the 2003 American Association of Naturopathic Physicians annual conference in Portland, Oregon and at that presentation I saw Dr.

Conrad Kale. He is a famous naturopathic doctor. I think he was the founding president of Southwest Naturopathic College in Tempe, Arizona just beside Phoenix and he had presented a presentation on electronic homeopathy and its validity that was astounding.

I've got a recording of that presentation and it was very interesting because they validated the energetic signature of electronic homeopathy. Now there is a complex 3D signature of energy that can be measured of many items.

In 1990, I was working on my undergraduate qualifications to go to naturopathic school. I was at Simon Fraser University in Burnaby, just outside of Vancouver, British Columbia.

And while I was there, I was able to participate in a work study program. They called it co-op education at the time. and I was able to take a work term in the fall of 1990 and go to work at what is known as the Provincial Toxicology Center.

Noise Cancellation and Harmonic Inversion Examples

This is where people in the province who die unexpectedly, and there's too many questions to be answered, they weren't expected, it was an older person who died of natural causes, their body samples may not go through the Provincial Toxicology Center, but too many people would die in a car crash or other circumstances, and I was on the analysis for alcohol.

So I was testing blood, urine, and eyeball fluid for alcohol levels to find out how disabled the person was who had died. When I was working at that office, it was a four-month work term.

Right beside me was a mass spectrophotometer run by the head analyst in the office. in the lab and at one point in the four months the machine had malfunctioned and it's a critical piece of equipment for them to analyze body samples of different tissues to find out what the cause of death was.

So if they had an unusual drug reaction, if they had a drug that they had to identify, they use a mass spectrophotometer. At one point the machine broke down and rather than wait for the technician from the company, from Hewlett Packard to come out, the lead technician took it upon himself to disassemble the machine and find the malfunctioning part and reassemble it.

I was totally amazed because my workstation was probably five feet away from that, what turned out to be an exploded diagram. So all these parts in sequence were taken apart and spread out and the malfunctioning part was identified, replacement parts put in and it was reassembled.

Fantastic to see a mass spectrophotometer. Now we may have heard of things like Ben Johnson, Canadian sprinter at the Seoul Korean Olympics. got caught blood doping or pardon me supplementing hormones and he won for a short time sprinting, men sprinting gold medal and it was determined through analysis with a mass spectrophotometer what level of artificial hormones were in his system.

So there are some very strong real-world applications for this type of analysis. You can actually identify with this analysis the signature of the structure of molecules, molecules being combinations of atoms to form perhaps a drug, perhaps another substance.

So it was neat to watch in a lab the use of that machine when it was taken apart, when it was put back together. So essentially the chromatography unit separates out the molecules, it strings them out.

So you'll have a test sample, say from a blood sample. You want to know what a person is taking. What kind of chemical? Is it prescription? Is it illegal?

Is it unclassified? It could be just a very new drug for altered behavior. This lab wanted to know this and it's very high level functioning legally and medically within the province.

Mass Spectrophotometer Validation and Homeopathic Signatures

So I was watching as they took apart the main test unit, which was an electromagnetic block. that the separated out molecules would be fed through in a gas and as they tumbled in that electromagnetic field that torquing and tumbling would be analyzed and they could come out with a reading of the exact chemical structure of the molecule.

fantastic right down to the molecule so you can identify perhaps testosterone you can do some other drug so you can identify exactly what is going on with a person and so that 3d signature which was electronic in 1990 When I'm at a presentation of the American Association of Naturopathic Physicians with Dr.

Conrad Kale, again from Arizona, they had used a mass spectrophotometer to get the signature of a couple of classical, what are called polycrest homeopathics from a famous French supplier.

So they had homeopathic remedies. This alone is fantastic, but to take a homeopathic remedy, put it through a mass spectrophotometer and get a signature, get an electronic signature.

with a machine that is used for very serious legal proceedings to prove what is present in a person, perhaps illegal. It may be part of a court case. It could be part of an autopsy and medical examiner report.

This is very serious, very technically believable. So what Dr. Kale presented was the use of a mass spectrophotometer and the signatures were identified, the 3D electronic signatures of classical homeopathic remedies.

Then they took a, because there's a number of different types of equipment out on the market at the time, that would generate electronic signals that would be homeopathic in action.

So again, we're talking bio resonance, the whole concept within the human body, whether that's parts of your body, whether that's a liver cell that's healthy, or is it a bacteria that's pathologic?

Is it a toxin, perhaps lead mercury cadmium? All of these different parts of our bodies, of our environment, all have healthy vibrations and unhealthy vibrations.

And in fact, what Dr. Cale showed and presented to the profession was that each one of these occurrences, and it's your choice as a practitioner as to what you want to test, could be identified, and they are real.

They are real signatures. I mean, mass spectrophotometer is as real as it gets. So it was validation that this type of naturopathic medicine, which is homeopathic, is in fact real.

It's not just a complex placebo, as some people have said. It's managing people's expectations. Well, that doesn't work with pets and small children. They don't have expectations.

You're not managing their expectations. They don't expect to somehow magically get better. They're just living. And so homeopathics with a long history of success with people, young ones and children and animals that respond well to this type of treatment.

Is it just belief? No. There's actual structures. Now, this is really interesting because in the 1990s, I had acquired some used equipment from what was then called VegaMed.

So this was a company out of Germany. that you would use meters to measure acupuncture points on the body and see if certain homeopathic remedies would agree or disagree with them.

And so you could identify their illness, perhaps a bacteria or a virus, and then find out what homeopathic would level the harmonic so that you would know how to treat the person to neutralize the negative harmonic that was influencing the body, because it's not just physical action, but actual influence through harmonics.

And if you don't believe harmonics exist, hold your cell phone close to your head. That's all harmonics. If your ears start buzzing, you don't feel good, yeah, that's harmonics.

That's a different level of energy, but that's the same concept. And certainly, noise-canceling headphones works. Nobody would ever say that they don't.

You put on a pair and you're amazed at how it works. So I've been following Vega equipment for quite a few years. I use different companies' types of equipment over the years.

different versions, and in 2003, the Vega company was converted over to VegaMed.

VegaMed Equipment and Bioresonance Testing

Dr. Peter Molini, a medical doctor in Germany, was the trainer for VegaMed. So he was putting on the classes and teaching doctors how to use the test and treat equipment from Vega.

And they had gone over to electronic signatures in the late 90s. So I'm familiar with the company, know about it. I have invested in my office in five pieces of equipment from WegeMed.

Now in 2003, Dr. Mullaney bought the company and has added a number of just startlingly intriguing, medically intriguing and effective treatments. There's several different pieces of equipment to help evaluate patients by exposing their bodies to electronic signatures that are the bio resonance.

So that's the harmonic field signature and that's through what's known as bio impedance. In other words, applying a electrical current across person's body whether at test points or one type of equipment that we've got the check medical that means bare feet on plates, probes in left and right hand and two electronic connections on the forehead and we can in 15 minutes generate some very accurate and very useful evaluations of the human body.

That's really cool getting the evaluations but what I want to know is the follow-through. What I want to know is how do you take those signatures and optimize them?

So there is the MedMatrix, which is a detox unit, which I'll cover in another podcast episode. Today, I want to talk about the MedSelect. The MedSelect machine is bio-resonance.

It has the WegeMed harmonic library applied to it. That is 5,000 signatures of medicines and pathology and organs. so that we can test a person and find out what their health circumstance is.

And once we've identified those harmonics that are out of balance, we can reprogram the human body by exposing the body to the ideal resonance. Pretty cool.

Now, it gets kind of almost surprising how far we go with that because in the equipment, which is very advanced. Now, let's take a step back for just a second.

How do we know that this actually works? Because there's people offering equipment from Asia, from Russia, other places that claim the same thing. Now, do they actually do that?

Do they actually have harmonic signatures that they can identify and neutralize problems? I mean, if they can, that's fantastic, but I don't know that they can.

And you have to understand the political realities of the world. The Wegemed equipment is produced in Germany. It's licensed in Germany. And if you know about the German culture and the German government, they don't deal with BS.

They just don't. It's just black and white. It's yes or no. The certification process means that you have to prove that the harmonic is there, that the harmonic is actually effective.

And this is what Dr. Molini does. Every year or two, he's putting all this validation, this is expensive, and it goes into the government. So is it real?

It's German. Yes, it's real. I don't want to be trite about that because my last name is Wickenheiser, but still, if it's German, you know that it's engineered well.

It just is. And medically, this is cutting edge and all that's reassuring for me as a doctor, but the results are what's reassuring to my patients. And I've got a number of patients who are going through cycles of care.

And this is working just so well. Now, into the MedSelect, we have test and treat. So we will identify what harmonic area we want to evaluate. Perhaps it's your immunity.

Perhaps it is joint pain. Perhaps it's another area of your physical functioning. You can identify right down to the area that you want to treat. And then there is a test phase where two electrodes with red cords are placed at the base of your neck.

And for a number of seconds, it'll evaluate. So the 5,000 harmonics that are in the database are evaluated, not the whole group, but what you've selected.

And then it finds out what's out of harmonic balance and what is in. And then what's outside, we go into the treatment phase. Now the treatments don't just stop at the treatment, but there's a couple of other ways that we can send people home with this.

And the first one is alcohol. Some people like alcohol drops. So we can print the therapeutic harmonics into an alcohol dropper bottle.

MedSelect Treatment, Take-Home Signatures, and Closing

Another way to do it, which is very cool is. the SI card. So this is an electronic card that will be placed in the machine and that's stripped. Now, if this works for hotel keys and for credit cards, it can certainly work for this signature take home system.

And so you take this home, it'll be printed every trip you come in. So if you're doing a regular workup with this equipment, you would typically come in for two treatments a week, for two weeks and then one treatment a week after that.

And so in your first month, you'll do six treatments, but you take home your signature, the complex homeopathic that you need to have in your life. And so you can either wear it for about two hours a day or you simply take it home.

put a glass glass of water on top of it and it'll program the water and then drink that water through the day. This is what Dr. Molini's taught me and it works quite well.

So electronic homeopathy, the ability to identify disharmonic, pathologic, unbalanced electrical signatures in the human body and then to neutralize the negative and reinforce the positive is astounding.

The ability to do this with believable real equipment is a major feature of my medical practice. I've been practiced now for 30 years. I was into homeopathy before that since 1985. So you do the math.

It's been a while and to be able to offer. this level of care to people in my office, very cool. So electronic homeopathy, yes, it's real. Yes, I get patient results with it.

If you want to know more, go to my website, The Natural Facts, THENaturalFACTS.com, and you can get more information on electronic homeopathy and see what the WEGAMED equipment looks like and how it operates.

And in the meantime, know that you have more control over the basics of good health than perhaps you had realized before. You can customize the care. You can deal with the real problem, not just deal with symptoms.
