Introduction to Hero Diapers

If you have a baby in diapers, you need to watch this video. So I just met with a woman named Mickey Agrawal. She is the founder of Hero Diapers. And she's also the person who made Thinks Underwear and the Toshiba Day.

and she is amazing. she trying to save the planet with all of these products that she has. As she offered a subscription for my followers. It's only $99 a month for diapers for your month supply of diapers.

For life. if you type in the code drcarolkheim at checkout.

Unboxing the First Subscription Box

So I actually signed up for it for my son, and this is my first box. I wanted to get like an honest unboxing video. Here we go. Let's see. It's got this tape on top, kind of like they have on Amazon packages.

By the way, Hero is here, and I'll put a link in down below for you guys if you wanted to just click right over to find the subscription to get your $99 a month diapers for life.

These are disposables. But what's really, really cool about them that I'm super excited to look at is that they come with these packets of spores, mold spore, and it's a mold that grows and eats plastic.

So the diapers, they've got unbleached cotton inside. They use your baby's poop basically to grow this fungus. that eats plastic. So they break down this diaper and they also break other diapers that are in the landfill.

How the Plastic-Eating Spores Work

Otherwise, normally breakdown time for diapers is 400 to 500 years. Anyways, here we go. Got this cute paper on top. It has information about Hero's Journey and I just love that.

I know that because she told me when we were talking. Oh, look at this. Cute car. This looks like a really nice, beautiful envelope. Let's see. wax seal very fancy dear hero parent all very sweet so just a bit about hero's journey and how we are helping to make the planet a healthier place so yeah it's amazing going to like help landfills everywhere.

I feel like we should spread the word to everybody and it ends up being cheaper than regular disposable diapers which is just awesome. So there are also these wipes that come with it.

Also part of that promotion is you get four packages of wipes with them and oh my gosh okay so here are the pouches and this is the diapers.

Wipes, Sizes, and Biodegradable Packaging

I have a toddler so he's in size four so those are kind of big. But yes they have different sizes, all the different size of diapers. Okay so here are the pouches.

Wow cool! Okay so I know this is biodegradable packaging as well and the spores are inside and so you just open the packet, dump it in with the poop, compost or throw this away and throw out your diaper in the trash and it'll get to work.

And it takes a couple of weeks for the fungus to grow so it's not going to like break down in your garbage can or anything and it will start around the time it gets to the landfill and start degrading other waste around it as well.
