Why Leaders Need Frontline Experience

Welcome to the Podiatry Voice. Today we're exploring why the best leaders in our field are those who have truly been in the trenches. Finding a physician who understands the front office is vital, but expertise alone isn't enough to shape a truly efficient practice.

It's about those that haven't just managed the back office but have spent years providing direct patient care day in and day out. When a leader has been in those trenches, they bring a level of insight that can't be taught in a classroom or a management seminar.

They understand the real-world challenges your staff and patients face, allowing them to shape a front office that actually works. Experience matters.
